Notes From Steve

There's just something about winning that makes one feel - good. As if you have accomplished a great task in life. I have been amazed at our community's willingness to jump on the ban...uhh, I mean "come back" and root-on the Pioneer football team. Hey, everybody loves a winner! The prognosticators have deemed that the college football team from east Tennessee that wears orange is one of the best in the country. I even watched with glee last Thursday night as my Vandy Commodores actually did not pull a loss from the jaws of victory (meaning they won.) Yes, everybody loves a winner!

But when the losing starts...it is extremely hard to stay faithful.

When you know that the only way to heaven is through obedience to Jesus the Christ and the whole world seems to state otherwise...it is hard to stay faithful (John 14:15, Matthew 28:18.)

When you are convinced of your research that Creation is true and Evolution is false, yet the entire world seems to be against you...it is hard to stand up to the pressure (Genesis 1:1, Exodus 20:1.)

When your diligent study has led you to overwhelming evidence that the Bible can back up its claims, but others still ridicule you for it...it is hard to remain focused (II Timothy 2:15, Hebrews 4:12.)

Hey, everybody loves a winner! However, sometimes we get our minds clouded by what it really means to be a winner or a loser.

The following verse helps to keep me grounded and focused on whom a true winner will be. "These will make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb will overcome them, for He is Lord of lords and King of kings; and those who are with Him are called, chosen, and faithful" (Revelation 17:10.) When your faith is being tested, pressure is raining down upon you, and your focus is getting blurred, remember, this. Jesus is the Lamb and He will win...HE WILL WIN. Only those who are on His "team" (the called, chosen, and faithful) will be deemed a winner. Everyone else will be declared a loser and there will be no "we'll get'em next week."

Hey, everybody loves a winner.
