Youth News

BIRTHDAY WEDNESDAY is this Wednesday night. All youth are asked to stay and enjoy a period of fellowship as we celebrate those with November birthdays.

Continuing the Wednesday theme W.N.Y.S. (Wednesday Night Youth Something) is back November 27th. Make plans to stay till 11 pm after services that night. Bring your favorite snack/candy and game(s.) Drinks will be provided.

For many years our youth have purchased, prepared, and delivered gifts for the holiday season to those who are less fortunate. Bybee Branch has always gone way beyond what is expected to help our youth with this endeavor. If you are capable and willing, we are accepting donations to help make some deserving people's holiday a little more special. Please give your money to me or to one of the elders. The cut-off to give is Sunday, December 1st. Thank you in advance.

Don't forget to check the Youth Bulletin Board for details about EVANGELISM UNIVERSITY and CHALLENGE YOUTH CONFERENCE. The deadlines will be here before you know it!

I Have Decided I Will ...

I will do more than belong...I will PARTICIPATE.
I will do more than believe...I will PRACTICE.
I will do more than care...I will HELP.
I will do more than be fair...I will be KIND.
I will do more than forgive...I will FORGET.
I will do more than teach...I will INSPIRE.
I will do more than be friendly...I will be a FRIEND.

The decision to do more with enthusiasm must be made by each one of us, therefore—I can, You can, We can!!

Fallout Shelters, Airport Security and Estate Planning

What do fallout shelters, airport security and estate planning have in common? The answer is that they all are preparations we make today for possible disasters tomorrow. When I was growing up, building fallout shelters was a hot topic. Everybody knew that during the Cold War (often dated between 1947 and 1991) a nuclear attack was inevitable. So, to offer protection from radioactive debris, fallout shelters were built. Virtually all of these shelters have now been decommissioned, and many of them have been turned into museums. The threat never materialized.

Airport security is one way our government is trying to offer protection from future terrorist attacks. Estate planning is an attempt to anticipate and arrange for the disposal of an estate during your life, in the hopes of eliminating future uncertainties in disbursements and taxes. All three of these concepts are something we do today to hopefully avoid disasters tomorrow. Planning for the future in any area is wise and has many benefits.

But as Murray Dunn recently wrote to me, how sad it is when people willingly spend time, energy and money trying to provide protection from future disasters of this life while never giving a thought about preparing for the future disaster in the life to come! Fallout shelters did nothing to protect people from the affects of Satan's influence. Airport security does nothing to protect people from the sinful terrorist attacks of the Devil. Estate planning rarely gives thought to how our assets can be used for God's glory. This is in no way undermining the importance of making these preparations for our future protection. But it does serve to illustrate a greater truth: if we can see the importance of making future preparations for possible disasters in this life, how much more should we be making preparations for the certain disaster that is in a future without Christ!

The story Jesus told about a man often called "The Rich Fool" (Luke 12:13-21) makes this lesson clear. To paraphrase the story, a farmer had a bumper crop and did not have enough storage to hold it all. He took comfort in his decision to just build larger storage barns and found security in his surplus. Unfortunately for him, he gave no thought to how he should use his blessings for God. That very night God not only took his life, leaving his full barns for others, He also called him to give account for not thinking of God. Jesus concluded, "This is how it will be with anyone who stores up things for himself but is not rich toward God" (Luke 12:21).

While this story focuses on how we might fail to use God's material blessings, it also illustrates a larger principle: how we often fail to consider God in any of our future planning. Whatever God gives us (our families, our time, our leisure, our jobs, our talents, and especially our souls), whatever He gives us in this life needs to be used in view of eternity. It's ok, even wise, to plan for future disasters in this life, but we should never neglect to plan for eternity. "What good will it be for a man if he gains the whole world, yet forfeits his soul? Or what can a man give in exchange for his soul? (Matt. 16:26).
