Marking Your Bible: Good Works

One of the best ways to study the word of God that this author finds very profitable is to mark the Bible so that you will remember why that is a significant point in that passage. Paul wrote some inspired letters to a congregation of Christians at Ephesus and to some young preachers named Timothy and Titus. One of the key phrases that Paul uses frequently is “good works”. I would urge you to circle these phrases in your Bible. The “good works” phrase is found in Eph. 2:10; 1 Tim. 2:10; 5:10; 5:25; 6:18; Tit. 2:7, 14; 3:8, 14. I would use Eph. 2:10 as my starting point in marking in my margin: “cf. (‘‘good work’’ passages).”

If you look up these passages, you will notice remarkable aspects that are part of doing good works as a Christian. The first aspect is that in Eph. 2:10 and Tit. 2:14 we learn that God from all of eternity set apart those in His Son's church to walk in good works. Why do Christians walk in good works? Good works lead to glorifying God (Matt. 5:16)! We must earnestly desire to pursue them! (Tit. 2:14).

The second aspect in the contexts of 1 Tim. 2:10 and 5:10 is relating to women in how they can promote good works by performing the duties of a servant as Christ, the ultimate Servant, would have done good (Acts 9:36; 10:38).

The third aspect of good works in 1 Tim. 5:25 is shown in the context of selecting men who are qualified for the eldership. There are some men who sadly continue in a life of sin that would hinder them from the office, but there are also some men who have a great character that would shine in the community that would be wonderfully qualified for the office and other men who have an attitude of godliness that is hidden that would be qualified also.

The fourth aspect of doing good works in 1 Tim. 6:18 is related to giving and sharing. Christians are to work so that they may have something to give to those who are in need (Eph. 4:28).

The fifth aspect of good works in Tit. 2:7 would be to show an example of good behavior in both life and in teaching the word of God.

The sixth aspect of good works in Tit. 3:8, 14 would be edification and fruitfulness. It relates to building up the community of God to growing spiritually to conform to the image of Christ and helped the vineyard of the Lord to bear spiritual fruit for the harvest for the coming day of God (Matt. 13:24-30; Jn. 4:35).

Are you promoting “good works” as a Christian? This author did not put Heb. 10:24 because we do not know whether Paul wrote it or not. It is a fitting admonition for us to consider: “And let us consider one another in order to stir up love and good works.” In Eph. 2:10, write beside the margin, predestined to do them (cf. Tit. 2:14). Then besides Tit. 2:14, write: earnest pursuit of them! In 1 Tim. 2:10 and 5:10, write: service! In 1 Tim. 5:25, write: helps in qualifying for an elder. In 1 Tim. 6:18, underline “giving” and “sharing”. In Tit. 2:7, write: good behavior. In Tit. 3:8, write: edification. In Tit. 3:14, write: fruitfulness!
