Spring Begins

The winter days are over

Cold winds are on the run

Each morning greets the sunlight

Like a victory being won.

The air is filled with freshness

While the birds all chirp and play

Filling the air with music

To begin another day.

The flowers are filled with colors

As the breezes make them sway

The bees are gathering nectar

For their hives across the way.

There's a feeling in such rapture

As all nature gently nods

Reassuring without doubting

That there is a living God.
